If you are concerned about your child's speech or language development check the following:

- Have you discussed your concerns with your health visiting team, preschool or school staff? They will be able to give you advice about typical development and some strategies to try. They are also trained to make decisions around referrals to a wide range of agencies.
- Have you followed the advice and tips upon the Talking Takes Off and the local Speech and Language Therapy websites?
 - www.flyingstartluton.com/talkingtakesoff
 - www.childspeechbedfordshire.nhs.uk
- Have you taken your child to local groups which support language development? For example: Flying Start Children's Centre, toddler group, library.

- Have you helped your child (over 12 months old) to get rid of their dummy and bottle?
- Does your child have opportunities to play with other children of a similar age?

Do you:

- Regularly read stories with your child?
- Praise and respond to all the ways in which your child communicates with you, for example pointing and showing you things? Make sure you give your child time to let you know what they want.
- Make time to play and have fun with your child, letting them choose the toy and how to play? Try to have quiet times where there is no T.V/music on whilst you play.
